

Union Street

Major improvements are planned for Union Street and its junctions with A2 New Road, Best Street, High Street and the Brook, in Chatham town centre. The scheme is part of the regeneration programme for Chatham. The Union Street scheme will create improved crossing facilities and an inviting, attractive space for pedestrians at this important entrance to Chatham town centre. The works will increase traffic capacity including straightening and widening of Union Street to accommodate three lanes of traffic in both directions. Land on the west side of the new road will be landscaped.

Southern Gas Networks has recently finished diverting gas mains and ground investigation works have taken place in preparation for the scheme.

The main construction works are planned to start early in 2010. There will be some disruption while the works take place but the end result will be worth it with better conditions for all road users.
