

BTO Nightingale Survey 2012

Lodge Hill, Kent (TQ77)

Total inside site location plan boundary : 69 territories

NOTE The BTO would wish to stress that the estimated numbers of breeding nightingales, although likely to be very close to the final estimates, should be regarded as provisional for several reasons. These include all those reasons detailed by Andrew Henderson in his report (dated 10 June 2012) on the Kent population. In addition, in the final analysis of the survey data, statistical modelling will be used to estimate numbers likely to be present in uncovered areas throughout the range of the species. This requires the availability of the full survey data, not just that for Kent. As yet, the BTO does not have counts for other counties and is, therefore, not in a position to complete this analysis.